Re: Request for Investigation – AMR Corporation

Dear Ms. Thomsen:

The Association of Professional Flight Attendants (“APFA”) is the exclusive bargaining agent for the 20,000 flight attendants employed by American Airlines, a wholly owned subsidiary of AMR Corporation, and a publicly traded corporation listed on the NYSE. Significant numbers of APFA members own common stock options and shares of common stock.

By this letter, APFA is requesting an investigation into certain actions of AMR corporate officials.

The publicly-traded entity which is the subject of this request for investigation is AMR Corporation. The Corporation is located at 4255 Amon Carter Boulevard, Fort Worth, TX 76155-2603. The officers’ actions to be investigated include those of statutory reporting officers Chairman, President and CEO Gerard Arpey, Executive VP Daniel Garton, Executive VP and CFO Thomas Horton, Senior VP, General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer Gary Kennedy and Senior Vice President Technical Operations Robert Reding, along with approximately 869 other managers who recently participated in AMR’s Executive Compensation Performance Share Plan (“PSP”) in April 2007.

We ask that the investigation focus on the common stock price and volume of common stock traded in relationship to the April 18, 2007, award of common shares as part of the PSP. Under that Plan, the value of the award is in part determined by the price of stock on or about April 18, 2007.

As shown in Attachment 1 to this letter, the NYSE Daily Transaction Volume reflects a spike in transaction volume around the time period associated with the Executive Compensation PSP formulae date. Additionally, as shown in Attachment 2, the NYSE Daily Closing Price also shows an increase in the price per share around the time period associated with the PSP formulae date. As noted above, the price per share has a direct relationship to the value of the AMR executive compensation PSP Plan calculation.

Since April 18, 2007, the PSP formulae date, the following reporting officers have been involved with AMR Insider Trades as follows:

Gerard Arpey	$7,695,428
Thomas Horton	$4,649,251
Daniel Garton	$3,721,986
Gary Kennedy	$2,345,989
Robert Redding	$ 770,616

(See Attachment 3)

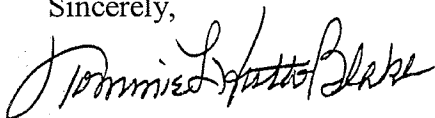

APFA does not know whether there has been a violation of any kind. However, the data described raises concerns. It is for that reason and in the interest of protecting investors and the investing public – including many of our members – that we ask the SEC to conduct an investigation.

(Please note that the scope of this submission is strictly limited to our request for an investigation. Nothing contained in this request for investigation is intended to affect any AMR security or investor.)

Please contact the law firm of Phillips & Richard, P.A., Mark Richard, who is representing APFA in this request for investigation, if you have any questions.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Tommie L. Hutto-Blake
APFA President
